GOV. BASS ADDRESSES JOHN LANGDON CLUB

With Mrs. Bass Was the Guest of Club at Annual Ladies' Night.

Governor and Mrs. Robert P. Bass were the guests on Monday evening of the John Langdon club at the North church chapel. On the occasion of their ladies' night, and they were greeted by a large gathering of the members.

President Charles A. Hazlett, presided and Governor Bass delivered a very interesting address on "Governments and its Relations to Business." At the conclusion of the address there was an informal reception during which all present met the Governor and Mrs. Bass and President and Mrs. Hazlett and the guests were introduced by Rev. Dr. Thayer and Mr. Harry B. Boynton.

Following the reception refreshments of tea, cake and fruit punch were served and a social hour enjoyed.

Governor and Mrs. Bass are the guests of Dr. Thayer during their brief stay in this city.

Governor Bass' Address.

Mr. President, Ladies and Gentlemen:

The prasing of my unannounced subject of this evening, "The Relations between Business and Government," might be criticized as implying that business is without government and that government is without business; a statement so far from the truth that it would not pass muster even in a heated political debate, to say nothing of undergoing the intellectual scrutiny of such an audience as this.

The many successful men I see before me, know that every prosperous business needs and has a government of its own, with laws for every department, punishment for their neglect or infraction and rewards for their efficient execution.

GOV. ROBERT P. BASS.

And all the wives of these successful men are equally unanimous in their opinion that the government of

GOOD PROSPECTS FOR THE NEW TRACK TEAM

High School Team to Have Benefit of Good Coaches

Prospects for a strong track team to represent Portsmouth High school the coming season are very bright, and a deep interest is being taken in the same by the athletes of the school. This will be the first time in the history of the school that it has been represented by a track team and is the intention of those interested in the movement to make as good a showing as possible. With this end in view, arrangements have been made whereby a squad will go to Exeter each week to take instructions from Coach Connor, instructor at P. E. A. and the members of the team will also be instructed by Mr. Pringle, one of the members of the faculty at the High school, who was captain of the Dartmouth track team.

POEHLER DEFEATS ARCHIE WALSH

At the Central square bowling alley, Rochester on Wednesday evening before a large crowd of spectators, Archie Walsh, the boy wonder from East Boston, was defeated by Paul Poehler, who claims to be the world's champion candlepin bowler, by 129 pins. An ineffectual attempt was made to break the world's record of a 15-string total. The score: Paul Poehler—113 101 101 85 93 113 108 97 102 120 96 144 95 94 99—1561; Archie Walsh—85 86 102 106 113 95 83 78 88 105 85 103 110 94 94—1432.

LINEMAN M'ISAAC NEARLY ELECTROCUTED THIS MORNING

He Receives 230 Volts while at Work on State Street

After 2300 volts of electricity had passed through his body, Alexander M'isaac a lineman employed by the Rockingham County Light and Power company, lives to tell the story. M'isaac and other workmen were engaged in rearranging light and power lines at the corner of State and Water streets when the accident occurred.

M'isaac who was on the pole was heard to scream and then became unconscious while his body hung limp with the right hand on the wires which he was at work. The other workmen with him, Louis Hockbeck and William Seayard were quick to act and ascended the pole with a rope.

They threw the line around his body and succeeded in getting him clear. He came to after a few minutes and they assisted him to the ground. He was quickly removed to the office of Dr. J. H. Dixon and later to the Portsmouth hospital.

M'isaac was badly burned on the right hand and left leg. That death was not instant is due to some protection his body had by the spur of his left leg coming in contact with a telephone wire which caused a ground.

At the hospital he is suffering much from the shock as well as the burns. He is a single man and was at the time employed by the telephone company.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS ISSUE THEIR REPORT

The building of a new jail increased in the number of prisoners and other inmates confined in the farm at Brentwood and a substantial increase in the current revenue are the important features described in the annual report issued by the commissioners of Rockingham county. An increase of the bonded debt in order to displace the antiquated jail, that formerly offered little resistance to recalcitrant prisoners is also shown in the report.

During the year that ended Dec. 31, the income of the county was as follows: County taxes, $85,250; from the state board of license commissioners, $18,461.34; income of county farm, $2634.92; bond sales, $70,000; miscellaneous, $2721.81; notes $32,000; with cash on hand Jan. 1, amounting to $42,779.04, gave the county a total receipt of $254,845.01.

Disbursements by the commissioners of the county were as follows: By commissioners' orders, $99,556.60; superior court orders, $9221.02; superior court jury pay rolls, $5607.50; bonds paid, $57,000; coupons and interest, $4516.39; salaries, $4101; commissioners' expenses, $789.99; medical referee, $385.92; notes paid, $32,000; abatement of county taxes allowed town of Salem by legislative act, $214.07. The county begins the year of 1912 with a balance of $13,087.92 on hand.

The commissioners' orders, included in disbursements, were as follows: County farm expenses, $33,531.68; county poor off farm $26,396.04; aid furnished soldiers and their families, $918.97; registry of probate, $1193.81; registry of deeds, $1104.20; superior court, $576.59; New Hampshire State hospital, $301.19; records building, $680.33; Portsmouth jail, $694.76; Portsmouth court house, $1041.78; Exeter jail, $746.47; 30-seater court house, $974; county bridge, $789.33; miscellaneous, $2583.00; new jail at county farm, $13,915.65; total expense for year authorized by commissioners, $99,556.60.

During the year 331 people were admitted to the farm at Brentwood. Of that number 247 were prisoners. At the close of the year the inmates numbered 196, of whom 71 were prisoners. The income of the farm was $19,560.69 and the per capita cost or maintenance was $2.74 a week.

The county's bonded indebtedness, as announced by Treasurer James L. Parker, is $135,000. The net indebtedness is $94,012.08, as against $79,323.06 in 1910, an increase of approximately $12,500.

While the commissioners, George A. Carleton of Exeter, William A. Hodgdon, and Norman H. Deane of this city, were authorized to increase the bonded debt by $20,000 for the construction of the new jail, they withheld the cost to $12,689.02, principally through the saving of material from the old jail and of labor.

TAFT REPUBLICAN CLUB TO BE ORGANIZED

Large Membership Assured -- Will Organize After State Meeting
Today.

There was a good sized gathering of representative republicans at the Probate Court room on Monday evening for the purpose of organizing a Taft Republican Club. There were a great many other attractions about the city and in view of this no permanent organization was perfected. The meeting was called to order by Editor F. W. Hartford, who stated the object was to organize a Taft meeting in Concord today, and he said out how many would attend the meeting to be held in Concord on Tuesday.

WILL RACE IN DOVER

Several horse men are anxious to know who has the fastest speed in town and after a long period of race talk three of the fast ones are to get together. The race is to be pulled off in Dover on Thursday. It will be a three cornered brush between H. H. Burton, Arthur E. Freeman and James Harvey for $75, winner to take all.

MAIL CARRIERS WEIGHING MAIL

Beginning on Sunday last the carriers of the local postoffice started the weighing of all mail matter delivered by them for a week. They will also keep a record of the number of papers and letters delivered. This order from the department is for statistical purposes.

INTERESTS

TUESDAY, MARCH 5, 1912.

With the thermometer registering thirty degrees below zero at Madison on Monday, it does not look as though the back bone of winter was broken.

The battle of the Little Republics takes place one week from today. Incidentally delegates to the Constitutional Convention will be held in the cities, as well as the towns.

The action of the Republican progressives in New Hampshire in endorsing the Taft administration, is rather a set-back to the plans of the Roosevelt boomers. It looks a little as if Governor Bass were "in" with his own supporters.—Portland Express.

The Portland Express sees a harbinger of spring in the appearance of a burdy-surdy on the second day of March, but complains about the repertoire being that of 1911. That's nothing, this city has had a burdy-surdy make its appearance during the entire winter on Saturday evenings, and some of the musical selections date 1911.

If the old frigate Wabash, of good record in the Civil war, is to be replaced by a scout cruiser as receiving ship at this yard, her probable fate will be the junk-heap and burning beach. It is an opportunity where the organization known as the Sons of Veterans might show their appreciation of the deeds of their sires and become a constructive body by purchasing the ship and refitting her with spars and guns, keeping her as a monument of the old days so long as oak and iron hold together.—Boston Transcript.

The Chronicle has maintained from the start that the small railroad in the southern part of the state should not be paralleled by the Grand Trunk railroad, so as to work injury to the smaller corporations. Now those in a position to know say the Grand Trunk has never had the slightest idea of really locating a railroad in Boston, but that the whole agitation has been worked up to force the New Haven railroad into giving the Grand Trunk certain track privileges it very much desires in Northern Vermont. Certainly the Boston news papers and business organizations have been beautifully worked by the Canadians to help them get what they want.

It may have occurred to the little group of Roosevelt advocates in New Hampshire that there was some pretty fairly progressive sentiment represented at the Taft meeting in Concord Friday night. It will be even more in evidence in the same city tomorrow.—The Manchester Union.

The Roosevelt campaign starts out with peculiar omens. Launched on the anniversary of Napoleon's return from Elba with a nomination in view at a convention that meets on the anniversary of Waterloo, it would seem to be tempting fate to secure as manager Dixon, the supporter of Dr. Cook who introduced him at Hamilton, Montana, where he faced Durrill, the Mount McKinley guide. The last straw is the announcement that Dr. Cook's press agent is to perform similar duties for the Colonel.—Newburyport Herald.

It is to be reasonably expected that those people who have been complaining that the winters are not as cold as they used to be, when we had the dead old fashioned winters, are now satisfied.

Mr. Roosevelt's letter of acceptance was addressed to seven governors, whom he described as "the men elected by popular vote to stand as the heads of government in their several states." These governors are Hatley of Missouri, Glasscock of West Virginia, Aldrich of Nebraska, Bass of New Hampshire, Carey of Wyoming, Osborn of Michigan and Stubbs of Kansas. We find that as a candidate for governor, Hatley polled 355,932 votes to Taft's 347,203. Glasscock polled 130,807 to Taft's 137,869. Aldrich polled 122,883 to Taft's 126,997. Bass polled 44,908 to Taft's 55,149. Carey polled 21,884 to Taft's 20,845. Osborn polled 202,863 to Taft's 335,580. Stubbs polled 162,181 to Taft's 197,216. In these seven states as a whole, Taft polled 180,199 more votes than the seven governors. He ran behind only in Wyoming, where Carey's name was on the democratic ticket, and in Missouri, which is normally a democratic state. In all the five republican states he received more votes than the governors. Why should anybody assume that the seven little governors who polled fewer votes than Taft are more representative of republican sentiment than the President?—New York World.

PLENTY OF PROOF.

From People You Know—From Portsmouth Citizens.

The greatest skeptic can hardly fail to be convinced by evidence like this. It is impossible to produce better proof of merit than the testimony of residents of Portsmouth, of people who can be seen at any time. Read the following case of it:

B. A. Berry, 147 Congress St., Portsmouth, N. H., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills were used by a member of my family and proved of great benefit. The person referred to suffered terribly from lame back and was often stiff and sore. Learning of Doan's Kidney Pills, a box was procured at Philbrick's Pharmacy and their use begun. This remedy promptly disposed of the complaint. The above statement was given July 19, 1905 and on June 26, 1911 Mr. Berry said: 'I willingly confirm the public statement I gave six years ago recommending Doan's Kidney Pills. The cure has been effected and has been permanent.'"

For more full particulars, Price 50 cents, Foster-McLure Co., Buff. 15, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—And take no other.

Francis A. Thornton, the oldest Paymaster in the Navy, died on Wednesday afternoon at his residence in Baltimore. He was about 75 years of age, and was the first on the list of pirates.

The frigate Vermont was seen at anchor the 1st inst., on George's Bank, with all her masts cut away.

The Tribune's Washington dispatch says the following nominations were made to the Senate Monday: As Major Generals McDowell, Burnside, Buell, Pope, Curtis, McClellan, C. F. Smith and Lewis Wallace; Acting Major Generals at Fort Donelson, As Brigadier Generals, Cols. Oglesby, W. H. Wallace, Cook, McArthur, Lanman, who commanded the brigade at Fort Donelson, Cols. Berry of Maine and Ferry of Connecticut.

The brigade in which is the second New Hampshire Regiment has been placed under the command of Brigadier General Nagle. He is a graduate of West Point and a native of New Hampshire.

The paradoxical season draws near when the appearance of the "first robin" is almost a daily occurrence.

While it behooves every American to have faith in the rule of the people and the ultimate triumph of democracy, it is not necessary nor wise to always acquiesce in the rule and ideas of the majority at any one time—even at the expense of being misunderstood.

AMONG OUR EXCHANGES

New Hampshire, Roosevelt and Gov. Bass.

Unquestionably there are some Republicans in New Hampshire, outside the faction of the party known as Progressives, who have conscientiously favored the nomination of Theodore Roosevelt. They did not like some of the things he has advocated, but so long as these were not made prominent in his professional policies they could, on account of his record as a vote-getter and his rigor in supporting some good measures, look upon his candidacy with favor. Since his Columbus speech, when he gave the most prominence to policies that are alien to this class of people and advocated forcibly and prominently not only the initiative, referendum and recall, applied to legislative measures, but the recall applied to the judges of courts and to court decisions, these people have changed their opinion in regard to his candidacy for the presidency. They were for Roosevelt, not because they were Progressives, or because they were not Progressives, but because they had considered him not a radical in either direction. Their opinion was formed in an entirely unselfish and unprejudiced manner, except as their reason dictated as for the best interests of the party and the country, but with the course he has recently taken, appealing not to reason but to prejudice to win the nomination and election, and evidently appealing to the support of the baser elements in society, they are withdrawing their support. These people may not have been very favorable to Mr. Taft's re-nomination before this occurrence, but this has sent hundreds of these leading Republicans in New Hampshire to his support.

It will require more than the importunities of Governor Bass and the half-hearted appeals of his fellow Progressives, many of whom have been driven themselves from Roosevelt, to convince them that he is the candidate for New Hampshire Republicans to endorse.

The effect noticed in New Hampshire is reported to be felt in all sections of the country. While the so-called stand-patters will grant reasonable concessions to the so-called Progressives in the interests of party harmony, it is unthinkable that they will go so far towards Socialism as the utterances of Colonel Roosevelt would indicate this leadership would find them. A prominent Republican said to us that while he had not been a special admirer of Roosevelt, he had favored him, believing that he would make a

Simon, Bolivar, Buckner and Lloyd Tighman, captured at Fort Donelson and Fort Henry respectively, arrived in Boston on Monday afternoon and were sent immediately to Fort Warren in the harbor.

In the U. S. Senate on Monday the bill requiring the oath of allegiance to be taken by captains of vessels sailing to foreign ports, was passed.

In the House the tax bill was reported from the Committee of Ways and Means. It was made a special order for Wednesday of next week. The President was called upon to furnish any information in his possession relative to the affairs of Mexico. Mr. Cox of Ohio offered some resolutions, favoring negotiations for the better definition of maritime rights. They were recommended. The bill for the better administration of the law of prizes, etc., was passed.

The Herald says Gen. Londer related some time in Newburyport, while a student at Dummer Academy, and subsequently when acting as surveyor on the Eastern Railroad.

strong candidate at the polls, but after reading his Columbus speech and other recent utterances, he would almost favor a conservative Democrat in preference to him.

We think he voiced the sentiments of a vast number of Republicans in this and other states, and they are the opinions of men whose words carry weight and exert great influence in the councils of the party.—Manchester Mirror.

Where "Knocking" Comes From.

"Knocking has become a pernicious American habit and it should be quickly and thoroughly checked. It does an immense amount of harm and never has been known to do a particle of good. The mother of it all is probably the senseless gossip which prevails among gatherings of thoughtless women. The sewing circle, so dear to the heart of many foolish females is responsible for much of it. There any one's character or business reputation may be torn to shreds and discussed freely by dozens of persons, with no foundation except the malicious words of a thoughtless woman. This feature of our social life which prevails particularly in the country and in suburban districts, has probably done more harm in our social fabric than any other one thing and even the protestations of charitable, sweet-minded women cannot stem the tide of harsh words when once the tongues of two or three gossip loving women start. Women who would disdain an uncharitable act and who would hold up their hands in horror at the thought of injuring an innocent person, frequently add to the current of unjust-rumor of such an extent that a man's or woman's character may be seriously damaged and perhaps ruined. These women, intending fairness to all doubtless do not realize the harm their tongues may do in the excitement and interest of the moment. Listening to the unkind statements which emanate from the malicious gossips, they add a few words here and there, in order that the allegations and suppositions and assumptions may reach a terrifying total. And they are sometimes surprised themselves to find how little character so-and-so has after a circle of gossiping females has got through discussing it. These women are principally thoughtless, and their thoughtlessness leads them to follow in the wake of the malicious ones. That is what causes much of the trouble. If, instead of falling in with what the others have said, a few of the more charitable would occasionally utter a word of protest to the flood of useless conversation much less wrong would be done, but once started they seem to lose their heads in the attractive dissensions of the gossip.

The tendency to talk much about little is widespread. It prevails in all social grades, good, bad and indifferent from the parlors of the richest to the hovels of the poorest. The very commonness of it blinds us to its senselessness. We are so familiar with it, encountering it at every turn, that we take no notice of it. We have become habituated to it and keep it up as unconsciously as we keep up breathing by automatic action.

Yet it is the greatest obstacle of our days to mental and moral development. It shrivels the mind, destroys the energies and enthusiasm, distorts ideas and holds the aspirations down to the dead level of commonplace.

It is entirely a matter of habit. It may be cured by living up to a keen realization that all mental development comes of serious thought and wholesome interests and activities.

Gossip is a suicide by which one kills the best capabilities of the mind and heart. Physical self-destruction tears the soul from the body; the suicide of gossip shrinks and warps and shrivels the soul until there is little left.

Gossip and trivial thinking are always certain indications of an untalented and uninspiring vacant mind that hooks the soul a prisoner in a narrow cell.

All the wealth of the world could not make such a woman rich, for the soul of things beautiful is dead within her. The sunniest environments cannot make her happy, for the spirit of enjoyment is a stranger to her.

There is but one way to stop gossiping and that is to just stop it. Instead of talking much about nothing say all you can, be it ever so little, about something that has practical and permanent interest.—Dover News.

About Tide Power.

It is interesting to learn from a news item in the Waterville Sentinel that "At the suggestion of O. L. Frisbie, vice president of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress, Portsmouth, N. H., Senator Gardner of Maine will have the Federal Government investigate the practicability of tidal water power, and in doing this he will become a benefactor to the whole Atlantic and Pacific coast and especially his own State, for Maine has 300 miles of seacoast with no fuel and her water power inland.

The practicability of tidal water power" the Senator should know, has already been investigated and apparently proven by some public spirited citizens of Bath who last summer "harnessed the tide" by means of a large working model which they caused to be built to demonstrate the theory of inventor MacDonald that the rise and fall can be utilized for practical purposes. This model, placed in the King's Dock, Bath, was successful in driving continuously all last summer and far into the Fall by means of water from the Keenebeck tides, a small turbine motor. It was as nearly "perpetual motion" as this century is liable to see.

Among the thousands who witnessed the working of this tidal power machine, as the Sentinel will be interested to learn, was Governor Plafied whose comment on viewing the model was, "Amazing. It is so simple that I wonder that nobody ever thought of it before." The new system has the O. K. of Wizard Edison and a company is planning to build a commercial plant in Bath and another in Lubec, so that it seems not unlikely that by the time Senator Gardner gets his commission at work, all he will need to do will be to bring them to his own State and but a few miles from his own home to see a system of turbines continuously operated by power from the tides, driving one or two factories at a cost per-horse power so low as to restore tide power to its former place as one of the cheapest and most reliable of all sources of mechanical energy. What that would mean to the Maine coast is too apparent to need comment.—Bath Times.

CHIEF JUSTICE WALLACE HANDS DOWN DECISION

Stephen Gale of Exeter Loses Suit Against Exeter Building Ass'n

Chief Justice Robert M. Wallace has handed down a decision in the case of Stephen H. Gale vs. Exeter Building Association and Gale Brothers, Incorporated. The decision dismisses the bill and orders a decree for the defendants.

Gen. Gale was long engaged in the manufacture of shoes on a large scale in a factory built for his use by the Exeter Building Association, of 1910, by a vote of a majority of the stockholders of the association, the stock of which he gradually acquired much of the stock. During the years of his building was leased to Gale Bros. and was used for the manufacture of shoes. Wallace's decision, the association, the bill in equity, which is now dismissed.

EXETER

A pleasing entertainment was given at the First church lecture room Monday evening entitled "Trying Times," the scene being at the Bluepath lyceum bureau, the manager being Judge H. A. Shute, assistant manager, Principal Harlan M. Bisbee of the Robinson seminary; stenographer, Dora Dun; maid, Beatrice Carlisle; scrub woman Ella Mayo.

The applicants for engagements consisted of a flock of Baltimore blackbirds in charge of Messrs Bisbee, Beaty, Bingham and Thresher of the Phillips Exeter academy. This flock consisted of Harold Jenkins, Gertrude Trufant, Nathalie Shute, and Ella Eastman, the feature being a duet by Squire Hayseed and Spinster Diana Dobson from Cranberryville, these two characters being A. H. Vroom and Elizabeth Mayo.

I WONDER

How much money that Daniel street business man was shy on the rag deal?

How that Vaughan street woman could sleep so sound with a steam fire engine working under her window for an hour or so Monday morning?

If she has yet heard that there was a fire in her neighborhood?

If box 9 will give us the third alarm?

If the Boston and Maine is not losing a good man in ticket agent Chesley at the depot?

If the souvenir post cards for March 17th is not the prettiest issue in years?

If the naval band is not getting shy for musicians due to the several men being paid off of late?

If the navy will not find it hard to fill the places under the new ruling that exists?

If the sidewalk on Daniel street near the corner of Market square should not be fenced in on account of its condition and the danger there during the winter?

If a Congress street business man and his clerk did not make a hit in that ladder stunt a few days ago?

If they were training for the fire department or engaged in some lofty exercise?

If the fellow with the screw driver that has been busy segregating money from telephone booth machines came here to clean them all up?

Why he did not carry out the jobs he started on the several other machines?

When the weather man will send that warm wave this way?

Where the horses were that haul steamer when the alarm sounded Monday morning?

If March will follow February for cold weather?

If that member of the fire department who had a hydrant valve wide open and called for some one to help him close it after working a long time the wrong way at the fire Monday morning, got the stream shut off yet?

If there was not some speed to the gang who beat it from Russell street when the police appeared on that last liquor hunt?

Why such a large attendance at the Country club meeting on Wednesday night?

When passes for the Electric road men will come back?

Why the Portsmouth horse men are going to Dover to decide that race?

EDISONIAN THEATRE.

Freeman's Hall.

Weather Reports indicated that sales of laughter have been sweeping through the Edisonian. The manager has something that is still funnier than the Noodle Noodle Boys were. It is evident that the women folks appreciate the liveliest kind of vaudeville show, and with this in view the management will this week offer a program of marked excellence. Conspicuous among his favorites will be found Hilton, the comedy juggler, the funniest man on earth. Warren the great comedy magic act, is an act of real merit, and George Hazard eccentric dancing a very pleasing specialty. We make our afternoon show especially attractive for ladies and children.

Our picture program for Monday and Tuesday will contain five of the funniest pictures ever manufactured, which are "The Doctor's Dilemma," comedy, "A Pair of Shoes," comedy, "A Tragic Joke," American comedy, "Spare the Rod, and the Ten Boy," a great heart to heart story, making a bill full of snap and ginger. Come early and get good seats. Dancing starts at 2:15 and 7 p. m., sharp.

Georgia's State Chemist Praises Cottoleone

Mr. J. H. McCandless, State Chemist of Georgia, before a recent gathering, gave emphatic testimony to the high quality of Cottoleone. He said:

"The sale of this product (Cottoleone), and the proclamation that it is made from cotton oil, have done more to bring cotton seed oil truthfully and favorably before the public than anything else in recent history."

Mr. McCandless then pointed out why a pure, refined, vegetable-oil base, such as is used in Cottoleone, is the only assurance that a woman has of a clean, digestible cooking product.

lines of New Haven, Boston and Maine Central to succeed C. E. Farnsworth resigned. The appointment takes place April 1.

In order to co-operate more effectively with abutting owners along its 2200 miles of right of way, the Boston and Maine system is establishing a department of fire claims. This department will devote its entire attention to this branch of the road's operation. Annual loss by reason of fires in the extensive wooded as well as the more congested districts traversed by the Boston and Maine line has come to total many thousands of dollars, and its checking, through public education and otherwise, is a most important problem. E. A. Ryder, who since 1907 had been clerk of the Boston and Maine corporation has been selected to head the new department as commissioner, reporting directly to Vice Pres. Byrnes. A. B. Nichols will succeed Ryder as clerk. Mr. Byrnes, assisted by General Superintendent Lee, will assume complete charge of the road's operating department during the next few months, as Vice Pres. Barr will leave within a few days for a four months' trip through the south and southwest.

BROWNTAIL MOTHS O. K.

Experiment Shows They Have Wintered Well Despite Low Temperatures.

Reports have been circulated more or less recently to the effect that the exceeding low temperatures of the past two months have proven disastrous to the browntail moth caterpillars that have been wintering in the treetops, and that little need be feared from their ravages another spring. To test the truth of this statement a well known citizen subjected a few nests of the moth to the warmth of a living room for a few hours. For a time there were no results. In a few hours, however, life was observed and in less than a dozen hours the caterpillars were collecting on the outside of the nests.
As far as could be seen the cold weather had no ill effect on the insects. From this it can be seen that residents should not rely too much on the effect of the cold weather, but should remove the nests in order to be on the safe side.

HOSPITAL GETS GOOD SUM FROM CARD PARTY

The following is a report of the committee on the Charity Card Party held last week and it shows a most gratifying sum for the hospital: Money donations, $142.00. Expenses, $10.70. Net receipts, $351.55.

Thanks are extended to Messrs. H. J. Freeman, R. J. Walden, Margaret Bros., M. P. Alkon, D. H. McIntosh, Boston & Maine R. R., O. W. Ham, Albert Hilsop, M. Nichols, Hodgdon and Kershaw, H. W. Nickerson, D. F. Bothwick, J. E. Pickering, A. B. Duncan, H. P. Montgomerie, H. C. Taylor, G. B. French Co., Miss Clara Wentworth, T. H. Marden, Herbert Canney, C. W. Bass, Benj. Green, W. D. Grace, Boardman and Norton, C. E. Tilton, G. E. Philbrick, F. H. Coleman, Samuel Carl, F. W. Hartford, L. E. Staples, Paul M. Harvey, R. E. Hammaford, Fred Woods, A. O. Benfield, C. A. Towle, C. W. Gray, Knights of Columbus, Wks. Portsmouth Furniture Co., and those who so generously gave candy, and to all those who helped to make the party such a grand success.

POLICE COURT.

In police court on Monday afternoon Mrs. Melton Livira, an Italian woman, was charged with selling liquor. She paid a fine of $25 and cost at $6.90.

Henry Lytle and Bertha Gray were charged with a statutory offense and they were held in $200 bonds for the upper court.

John Ward charged with larceny of a suit of clothes, was held in $200 bonds.

CASCARETS FOR ALL SICK, SOUR STOMACH

Gently but thoroughly cleanse and regulate your Stomach, Liver and Bowels while you sleep.

That awful sourness belching of acid and foul gases; that pain in the pit of the stomach; the heartburn, nervousness, nausea, bloating after eating, feeling of fullness, dizziness and sick headache, means indigestion; a disordered stomach, which cannot be regulated until you remove the cause. It isn't your stomach's fault. Your stomach is as good as any.

Try Cascarets; they cure indigestion, because they immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the decomposed waste matter and poison from the intestines and bowels. Then your stomach trouble is ended forever. A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box from any drug store will keep your entire family feeling good for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too.

"THE LITTLEST REBEL" AT THE BOSTON THEATRE.

"As true a picture as I have ever seen of the conditions in and about Richmond during those weary days along toward the close of the war," was the remark of an old soldier who had attended the performance of "The Littlest Rebel" at the Boston Theatre in which Dustin and William Farnum are appearing. The emphatic approval indicated by that remark has been endorsed by the theatre-going public of Boston and surrounding country in their attitude toward Edward Peple's stirring war drama. The consistent and manly performance of the Farnum Brothers is ably supplemented by the touching and marvellous performance of little Mary Miles Minter, who in the title role of "The Littlest Rebel" was called by a Boston critic the most wonderful child actress on the American stage. Every detail of her work rings true, even to the nervous little twitch of her fingers as she holds her beloved doll "Susan Je-jima" in her arms in some of the tragic moments of the piece.

Dustin and William, or William and Dustin—it doesn't matter a particle so far as the Farnum brothers are concerned. Each is for the other, and the idea of superiority never enters their thoughts. They share honors in the play just as they share dressing rooms and although they are the high salaried stars of "The Littlest Rebel," one would never suspect it after being in their presence two minutes. When Dustin or William Farnum grasps one by the hand, smiles and says, "How are you?" the visitor never waits for an invitation to be seated: It is all in that handshake and that smile which makes one feel so thoroughly at home.

In private life and behind the scenes, the Farnum brothers are just the same. Kind, sincere, sympathetic good fellows whose acquaintance is highly valued by those fortunate enough to possess it, and whose popularity has been achieved purely on their merits as actors of sterling worth, and whose success was won through earnest effort, hard work and good nature. It was a stroke of genius which united the Farnums, for they constitute a tower of strength in the play, and when they are marched, side by side, as prisoners, into the presence of General Grant in the last act, they present a picture of virility almost inspiring and long to be remembered. A. H. Woods, the man responsible for the union, is to be congratulated. "The Littlest Rebel" will remain at the Boston Theatre a short time only.

CHANDLER NAMES KELLEY FOR GOV.

In a communication over the signature of Hon. W. E. Chandler in the Concord Monitor in which he names several good men that could fill the place of Governor is the following:

"In response to your requests for suggestions as to available men for gubernatorial nominee within the Republican party of this state I am glad to say that few New Hampshire men of his years are as well known, both within and without the state, as is John W. Kelley, of Portsmouth. An able, astute and practical politician, brilliant and successful lawyer, result-getting leader of important movements political and other, none of his opponents ever has denied that he is keen, bright and 'brainy.' It is true, he is a leading lawyer for the Boston and Maine railroad, but his recent public address to the Republican club of Rockingham county contained indications that he is ready to emerge from the chrysalis of his reticence and to rise on the broad wings of genuine reform in government to a high place in popular confidence and political preferment. He is my preference for Governor and he would not fail the people in any way whatever."

NOMINATING COMMITTEE ELECTED.

Country Club Have Large Meeting to Arrange for Annual Election.

A meeting of the Portsmouth Country Club was held on Monday evening, in the directors' room of the First National Bank, and there were about seventy-five members present.

In the absence of President Ward, the meeting was called to order by the Vice President and there were two tickets in the field for a nominating committee to bring in a list of officers for the annual meeting the first Monday in April. The following ticket was nominated:

Dr. J. H. Neal, Dr. W. D. Walker, John W. Kelley, H. J. Robertson, Jr., and Frederick M. Sise.

And the prospects of an excellent year. There is to be considerable work done on the golf course and it is hoped that it will be in better condition than for many years.

The club opens for the year with the largest membership it has had, 50 cents at any drug store.

Don't think that piles can't be cured. Thousands of obstinate cases have been cured by Doan's Ointment.

THE KITCHEN CUPBOARD

NOW FOR HOT MUFFINS. THOSE who have tasted English hospitality will never forget the hot muffins that are so often a part of the afternoon tea. Muffins are of many kinds, but the British muffin is an institution peculiar to the British housewife.

However, if the American cook wishes to try them, here is a recipe said to be successful:

Muffins For Anglomaniacs. English Muffins.—Take a quart of flour, a half teaspoonful of sugar, a teaspoonful of salt, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, generous spoonfuls, one and a quarter pints of milk.

Sift together flour, sugar, salt and powder; add the milk and mix into a smooth batter (a trifle stiffer than for griddle cakes).

Have the griddle heated oil over, grease it and lay on muffin rings. Half fill them and when risen well up to the top of the rings turn over gently with a "cake turner." They should not be too brown, just a buff color. When they are all cooked, open in half, toast delicately, butter them well, serve in folded napkins, piled high and very hot.

Health Flour Muffins. Graham Muffins.—Combine one cup of graham flour, one cup of flour, one-quarter cup of sugar, one teaspoonful of salt and one teaspoonful of baking powder, all of which must be sifted. To these add gradually one cup of milk, one egg well beaten and a tablespoonful of melted butter.

These should be baked in a hot oven in buttered gem pans for twenty-five minutes.

Rye muffins may be made from this recipe by substituting rye meal for the graham flour.

Rice Muffins.—Take two cupfuls of cold boiled rice, a pint of flour, a teaspoonful of salt, a tablespoonful of sugar, three eggs, a half pint of milk and one and a half teaspoonfuls of sugar.

Pour the milk on the rice, freeing it from lumps, and add the eggs, which should have been well beaten. Sift together the flour, sugar, salt and baking powder and add to the rice and milk.

Mix into a smooth firm batter. Pour into greased muffin pans, making each about two-thirds full, and bake for a quarter of an hour.

Finding a Silver Spoon. The passengers on an Atlantic liner were at dinner when one of them—he was, by the way, an amateur conjurer and had given a "turn" in the saloon the previous evening—observed a lady present take up a handsome sugar spoon and hide it up her sleeve. He waited till dinner was nearly over, then rose and addressed the company.

He had, he said, remembered another little trick, which he proposed to perform in amplification of his program of the evening before. Going up to the captain, he took from the table a spoon similar to that which the lady had hidden.

"You will see, ladies and gentlemen, I take this spoon and place it in the captain's sleeve."

He did so, bidding the captain grasp the sleeve tightly at the wrist with his disengaged hand.

"Now," he continued, "I will produce the spoon from Mrs. Blank's sleeve."

And, approaching the souvenir hunter, he dexterously did so. The delinquent, crimson with shame and vexation, promptly left the saloon for the solitude of her own stateroom.

Marketing in France.

In France the housewife does very little of the marketing. It is left to the servants. There the servants do the bargaining. If potatoes are 10 cents per pound and the girl can get them from some market woman for 8 cents she reasons that the mistress should not profit by the bargaining, but that she herself should have the difference. The regular price of the potatoes being 10 cents, the servant marks them down in her book at that price and pockets the difference. This is one of the peculiarities of the French method of keeping house, and it has been found a real aid in keeping servants. The housewives are aware of what is taking place, but they are satisfied to pay the regular market prices. It is the bargaining of the servants which gets them an extra allowance, but as long as the eatables are up to the standard the housewife does not complain.—Boston Herald.

Hia Trophies.

Mike and Pat had been at school together, but had drifted apart in after life. They met one day, and the conversation turned on athletics.

"Did you ever meet my brother Dennis?" asked Pat. "He won a gold medal in a Marathon race."

"Bedad," replied Mike, "sure, and that's fine! But did I ever tell you about my uncle at Ballythomas?"

Pat agreed that he could not call the gent to mind.

"Well," said Mike, "he's got a gold medal for five miles and one for ten miles, a silver medal for swimming, two cups for wrestling and a lot of badges for boxing and cycling."

"Begorra," said Pat, "he must be a great athlete, indeed!"

"Bedad," came the reply, "and you are wrong! He keeps the pawnshop!"—London Telegraph.

Altitude Loosens Tongues. "Workmen on high buildings have prejudices that must be respected," said a contractor. "A sedan, well balanced, never likes a talkative neighbor. Height unbalances some men's tongues. Men who are decidedly incommunicative at street level lay their souls bare 300 feet above ground. That inactivity does not impair their own efficiency. They lay back or chisel stone just as skillfully, no matter how fast they talk, but their chatter gets on the nerves of other men whose speech is not accelerated by altitude."—New York Press.

"STAG" PARTY AT THE P. A. C.

There was a "Stag" at the Portsmouth Athletic Club, which proved a big drawing card, and gave an excellent evening entertainment. There was a large attendance of the members and many invited guests.

Scott and Bayrd furnished the entertainment and they had a two men minstrel show, which was fine. They had a lot of good work and made a hit with the crowd.

During the evening the P. A. C. quartette gave several selections and there were musical numbers by individual members. A lunch was served.

SMALL FIRE ON CONGRESS STREET.

Still Alarm Brought Chemical and the Damage was Slight.

A fire was discovered in the small building occupied by the Sam Lee laundry and a boot black stand, shortly before six o'clock on Monday evening. A still alarm was sent in and the Chemical made a quick response.

The fire started evidently from the laundry, and it had gained but slight headway when discovered and it was extinguished with but a small damage.

Graceful Women of India.

Describing the women of India, a writer says: "Even the most withered old woman has a dignity of carriage and a grace of motion that the western woman might envy. The sari is draped in an easy flowing style and adjusted as it slips back with a graceful turn of the silver bangles arm, the skinny legs move rhythmically and the small feet fall with a silent and pantheistic tread. It is the beauty of natural and untrammelled motion and says much in favor of the abolition of the corset, for the Indian women retain their uprightness and suppleness of figure till bowed with age. The commonest type is the coolie woman, who undertakes all sorts of rough work, carrying heavy burdens on her head, and she is perhaps the least attractive, for her workaday garments are usually faded and dirty, yet even among this poor class of burden bearers we see many with handsome, straight features and supple, well proportioned figures. No matter how poor their garments, jewelry of some sort is worn—necklaces of gold or beads, colored glass or silver bangles and heavy silver anklets."

The Asylum Debating Club. "This is a wonderful place," said a man in the grounds of a lunatic asylum near Edinburgh to a casual visitor. "Everything is in such excellent order, so agreeable too. They have concerts and balls, and more than that, what do you think? They have a debating society."

"Indeed!" said the visitor. "A debating society?"

"Yes. They are debating just now, and if you like," suggested the man, "I will show you how they proceed. But when they see you take no particular notice. Should they address you merely say, 'Let me not disturb you, gentlemen; I am durt.'"

The lunatic—for such he really was—conducted the visitor into a room of the asylum and left him, not in the presence of lunatics, but with the board of governors of the institution, who were just then sitting.—London Answers.

Chewing the Crude Rubber. About the first process rubber goes through on the way to become a tire or tube is mastication. After the crude Para is washed it is broken up into lumps and tossed into the crackers. These are machines with heavy rollers, which take the rubber in between them and chew it. Entering the masticating room of a factory, the first impression is that there is a brush fire burning or else there is a den of snakes at hand. The rubber snags and crackles like burning branches and then hisses shudderingly. The stuff is kept at until it comes up in regular sheets, very thin and looking like a sort of cake dusted with crumbs. Then after thorough drying in vacuum chambers it is ready to be put in with the chemicals and other things that make up the compound.—New York Sun.

no Used Revived. In a scientific weekly we read the headline, "Can the Dead Be Revived?" They are revived every performance at the Metropolitan Opera House. It is a most encouraging symptom to see corpses arise from the stage after the curtain falls and bow their appreciation of the applause.—Musical Courier.

Sarcasm. Hawkshaw Holmes—I wish to be vaccinated. Doctor—What's your business? Hawkshaw Holmes—I'm a detective. Doctor—Stand out of line, please, and give somebody else a chance. There is no danger of your ever catching anything.—Boston Globe.

The Long Chase. "I understand that your spinsters friend has gone into one of the professions?"

"Yes."

"Indeed. And what is her particular pursuit?"

"Man."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Advancing. He only is advancing in life whose heart is getting softer, whose blood warmer, whose brain quicker, whose spirit is entering into living peace.—Ruskin.

The Supreme Court.

President Taft's nomination of Chancellor Mahlon Pitney of New Jersey to succeed the late John M. Harlan as associate justice of the United States supreme court makes six members of the court named by the present occupant of the White House, although in the case of Chief Justice White there was a promotion rather than an appointment outright. Besides the chief justice, the Taft appointees are Lurton, Hughes, Van Deranter, Lamar and Pitney. White, Lurton and Lamar, or half of those named by the president, are Democrats. The only other members of the court are Justice McKenna, appointed by McKinley, and Day and Holmes, named by Roosevelt.

It is a mistake to suppose that President Taft has named more justices of his highest court than any other president since Washington, however, a statement sometimes made. As a matter of fact, Jackson appointed six and Lincoln five. Thus if the advancement of Chief Justice White is not counted as an appointment Jackson exceeded Taft's record and Lincoln equaled it. It is correct to say, however, that Mr. Taft has appointed more members of the court in the same length of time than any president since Washington. Only seven presidents have named chief justices—Washington, Adams, Jackson, Lincoln, Grant, Cleveland and Taft. Washington named three, John Jay resigning to become governor of New York and John Rutledge failing of confirmation through loss of his reason.

Outside of the three chief justices the first president chose eight members of the court or eleven in all. Adams designated three, with the illustrious John Marshall at their head. Jefferson also appointed three, of whom Livingston was perhaps the most famous. Madison named two, one being the great Story. Monroe and J. Q. Adams nominated one each. Jackson appointed Chief Justice Taney and five others, among whom were McLean and Barbour. Van Buren selected but one, a man named McKinley, while Harrison and Tyler also designated one each. Polk named Levi Woodbury and one other, while Fillmore, Pierce and Buchanan selected one each. The three presidents who appointed no members of our highest court were Taylor, Johnson and Garfield. Lincoln named Chief Justice Chase and four others, including Davis and Field; Grant appointed Chief Justice Waite and three others; Hayes three, including Harlan; Arthur two, Cleveland and Benjamin Harrison four each, McKinley but one and Roosevelt three.

J. A. EDGERTON.

Remember the Maine.

The wreck of the battleship Maine has been raised, the dead recovered and the Maine monument started. On Feb. 15, the fourteenth anniversary of the blowing up of the vessel, the coffin-dam in Havana harbor was broken so that the after part of the wreck might be floated out into the open water. Services were held in Havana by the Spanish-American war veterans over the sixty dead taken from the shattered vessel, and the cornerstone of the Maine monument was laid with appropriate ceremonies at the Columbus circle entrance to Central park, New York. That these three events occurred on the same day did not happen by accident, but was part of a prearranged plan. Yet that fact did not detract from the beautiful significance of the ceremonies.

The monument is made possible by the subscriptions of the American people, given in pennies, nickels and larger sums. The fund was started by the Hearst newspapers within five days after the historic explosion.

The raising of the Maine has been well worth while. Through it the dead have been recovered to be given burial in American soil. Even more important, the origin of the catastrophe has been settled for all time. All the world now knows beyond the shadow of a doubt that the vessel was blown up from the outside by the Spaniards. That dastardly act drove Spain forever from the western hemisphere. Our loss of the ship and her man has resulted in greater gain for Cuba, for Porto Rico and for civilization.

On a Mexican one track road the engine had such a loud whistle that it exhausted all the steam and stopped the train, which was captured by its surrecoits. This is like Lincoln's story of the young lawyer whose brain stopped working every time he started to talk.

A woman who is suing for breach of promise has been held for assault and battery. What a struggle the man is having to get away!

Larry thousand, pleasant eggs and 5,000 pheasants are to be distributed to farmers and sportsmen free during the present season from the state game farm in Sherburne, N. Y. Eggs or birds will be sent only to those from whom applications are received. The eggs will be distributed beginning in April, from fifteen to eighteen eggs being included in the sitting. The eggs are hatched under common hens, and the little pheasants are hardly and seem to thrive under the conditions found on the average farm.

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH.

The usual services were held at St. John's church on Sunday. It being the first Sunday in the month Holy Communion was celebrated at the 10.30 a. m. service. During Lent Holy Communion will be celebrated each Sunday in the church after morning prayer, as many are unable to be present at the early celebration in the chapel on Sunday mornings.

Evening service was held in the chapel at 7.30 p. m. when the rector delivered the third in the series of confirmation lectures.

The Woman's Auxiliary holds its weekly meeting for sewing and Mission study this Tuesday afternoon in the chapel.

The Rev. W. Weir Gillis of Dover will be the special preacher at the Lenten service Tuesday at 4.45 p. m. in the chapel.

The Rev. Victor M. Houghton of Exeter will be the preacher at the Lenten service on Wednesday afternoon. His topic will be, "History of the Jewish People."

Evening prayer with address or lecture is held in St. John's chapel at 4.45 p. m. each Wednesday during Lent. An extra service will be held each Thursday at 7.30 p. m., to accommodate those who are unable to attend Lenten services during the day.

ITEMS OF INTEREST TO EMPLOYEES AT THE NAVY YARD

Clashed with the Secretary. Secretary Meyer and Representative Foss of Illinois, former chairman of the House committee on naval affairs, clashed at a hearing before that committee. Mr. Foss said that Secretary Meyer's plan of reorganization had been a failure, and that his evident intent was to build up the navy ashore rather than afloat. He quoted figures intended to show that the number of officers on shore duty and the amount of pay to officers and men so detailed had increased, while the pay to the navy at sea had decreased.

Secretary Meyer did not question the figures, but resented the attack.

Changes Among Officers.

Rear Admiral C. B. T. Moore to commandant naval station, Olongapo and Cavite, P. I.; Capt. C. F. Pond to commandant, 12th naval district; Capt. C. A. Gove to commandant, naval training station, San Francisco; Lt. S. Belknap, Jr., to naval station, Guantanamo, Cuba, charge rifle range.

Vessel Movements.

Arrived, Decatur at Wuhu, Harry at Chinkiang, Ajax at Newport News, Olympia at Hampton Roads, St. Louis at Bremerton, Wheeling at New Orleans, Maryland at Punta Arenas, Costa Rica.

Sailed—Hannibal, from Cristobal for Vano Lagoa; Tonopah, from New York for Norfolk; Utah, from Boston, for final trial; Leonidas, from Annapolis for Hampton Roads en route Charleston; Nashville from Santo Domingo City for Guantanamo; Prairie, from Hampton Roads for Gravesend.

Went to Enlarge Building.

Owing to the crowded conditions of building No. 80 the new machine division machine shop, the department of public works is asking for an appropriation to cover the extension of the building 20 feet on the east end.

Marine Gets Two Years.

Private Fraley of the marine guard was recently court martialled for breaking and entering the office building of the machinery division has been sentenced to two years at hard labor in prison, the sentence to be served at Weatherfield, Conn. On the completion of his sentence it is reported he will be again arrested by the post office authorities in connection with a money order forgery which he is charged with.

Junk Will Be Shy.

Condemned material is being assembled for the annual sale. It is evident that the junk end of the sale will not be as large as in the past, as much of the metal disposed of in this way will be used by the government.

Enjoying the Noon Hour.

Many of the navy yard workmen and clerks can be seen working on the yard howling alleys during the noon hour.

PROBATE COURT.

A session of probate court was held at the probate court room this morning. Judge Louis Hoyt presiding. Very little business was transacted. Among the wills probated was that of Dr. John W. Parsons, the bulk of his estate being left to his widow during her life time. At her death one half is bequeathed to his brother Langdon B. and the other portion to the children of Albion D. Parsons.

OBITUARY.

Nicholas J. Dwyer infant son of Nicholas Dwyer of 207 Myrtle avenue died this morning after a few days illness of pneumonia aged one month sixteen days.

MARRIED WOMAN WANTED TO WED A CHINAMAN

Married in this City on Feb 13 to a Sailor.

A story given out by the Newburyport police today, has it that the marriage of a Portsmouth girl to Henry Chin a Chinaman also of this city has been held up by the officers of that city. The girl applied for a license under the name of Josie McDonald to be united with the Chop Suey man. The police noting the youngness of the girl and her desire to join hands with a Chinaman decided to call the police here and learn something about the woman if possible.

In looking up her record here it appears that she was married in this city on Feb. 13 under the name of Josie Walsh to Charles J. Meyers a navy man. The police believe that the girl is slightly demented and will have her brought home today.

She has been at Newburyport for a week or more and has been seen at times in company with the proprietor of the Fleet street restaurant.
